THE RABBIT SCOURGE

HOW THE AUSTRALIANS TRY TO DEAL WITH THIS PEST.

Fences Made of Netting Over 400 Miles Long—Enormous Cost of Fighting the Plague—Millions Have Been Slaughtered but Numbers Continue to Increase.

Then the New South Wales government, it will be remembered, offered a reward of £25,000 to any person or persons who could suggest a really efficient method of getting rid of the pest; but, although this liberal offer led to the receipt of no fewer than 2,000 schemes from all parts of the world, none of them was regarded as satisfactory, and the offer was withdrawn. The domestic cat was introduced, and in certain limited areas did much service. Poles were largely resorted to, and ferrets, cats and weasels have been imported in thousands into some of the colonies and have increased fast. But hitherto the rabbits, owing to the rate at which they multiply, have managed not only to hold their own, but to constantly spread over new ground, carrying destruction with them wherever they go.

In South Australia, for instance, the direct loss from the rabbits has been put down at £250,000 per annum and the indirect loss at a similar amount. In Victoria the active operations for the destruction of rabbits on crown lands have been carried on by the government since 1880, and from that date to the middle of 1894 a total of nearly 2300,000 had been spent by the state on this object. As for the money spent by private individuals for the same purpose, that is almost incalculable, but it may be mentioned that on one estate alone upwards of £15,000 have been expended by the owner, with the view of clearing his land of the pest.

In the 17 years ending with 1893 nearly 69,000,000 rabbit skins, valued at $402,000, were exported from Victoria, without counting the large quantities used by hat manufacturers in the colony, one establishment alone using $74,400 every year. Yet, notwithstanding all this slaughter, the present infested area throughout the colony is estimated by the chief inspector at no less than 87,750,000 acres. Adding to the direct expenditure the depreciations of the grazing values of the land, the loss to the colonies concerned amount to millions of pounds sterling.

The final outcome of royal commissions, of international conferences and of the testing of every practical method of extermination, is that the most effective method of dealing with the evil is found to be the construction of rabbit proof netting, by means of which the animals can be kept from areas not yet infested, can be shut off from food supplies, and can be more effectively dealt with locally.

The length of some of these fences is enormous. There is one starting at Barrington, on the Queensland border, and following the main trunk line from Bourke to Corowa, a distance of 407 miles, and there is another along the entire western boundary of New South Wales, a distance of 845 miles. The Queensland government, too, has erected a similar fence along a considerable portion of the northern boundary of New South Wales, but the surveyor general of Queensland, in the report already referred to, says that "the rabbits must have come through the fence in holes and drives of humanable multitudes at some time," and thus have established themselves in Queensland as well.

This, of course, is the weak point in regard to fences, which are liable to break down in places, more especially in times of flood, and where they are overgrown with the keeping of constant watch on the fences, so that immediate repairs can be done where openings appear to be quite impracticable where the distances are so great. In many instances countless thousands of rabbits have been seen on one side of a fence dead or dying of starvation after eating all the available food supplies and leaping up at the fence in their attempts to surmount it. One can imagine how they would rush through in the event of any opening appearing and how a single break in the fence might be the doom of a country not previously infested.

There have been many projects for the commercial utilization of the animals by sending them over here in order to contribute both to our food supplies and to the cost of their own destruction, but hitherto the enterprise has not been very profitable, while some of the most competent authorities in the colonies think that if it should be followed up the result may be to conserve the rabbits instead of getting rid of them. On the other hand, too, the shipping of some hundreds of thousands of even a million or two, of rabbits to Great Britain every year would not be likely to make any appreciable difference on the numbers left behind to constitute what it is feared must be regarded as a pest now altogether ineradicable.—London Times.

A Lesson in Punctuation.

Professor in English (to young man)—How would you punctuate the following: "The beautiful girl, for such was she, was passing down the street?" Student—I think, professor, I would make a dash after the beautiful girl.

MANLY VIGOR

ONCE MORE in harmony with the world, 2000 completely cured men are singing happy praises for the greatest, grandest and most successful cure for sexual weakness and lost vigor known to medical science. An account of this wonderful discovery, in book form, with references and proofs will be sent to suffering men (sealed free).

Full manly vigor permanently restored. Failure impossible. ERIE MEDICAL CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

ATTRACTIVE FIGURES come with good health. It is easily seen when a woman has perfect health her face and figure show it. The painful disorders and diseases that afflict womankind make themselves seen as well as felt. Dull eyes, bloated or swollen face, and a wasted form, follow them. This is the time to turn to the right remedy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription builds up and strengthens the system, and regulates the system, and regulates the system, and regulates the system.

"FEMALE WEAKNESS."

Mrs. BYRON DANARD, of Milford, Prince Edward Co., Ont., Canada, writes: "A few years ago my health failed. I was troubled with female disease in its worst form, having been afflicted about fifteen years. I was also troubled with constipation, loss of appetite, dizziness and ringing in my head, nervous prostration, hysteria, loss of memory, palpitation of the heart, together with that tired feeling, all the time. I consulted several physicians—no one could clearly diagnose my case and all the medicines failed to give relief. After much persuasion I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—taken five bottles and I am a well woman doing my household work; from a run-down condition I have been restored to health. I feel it my duty to recommend your 'Favorite Prescription' for ladies afflicted with female diseases as I have been."

PENNOYER ON DECK AGAIN.

Ex-Governor Pennoyer of Oregon is on deck again. He has been elected Mayor of Portland by about 3,000 majority. He says he shall endeavor to reduce expenses whenever he can to meet the existing conditions. He now says what he could not well say, and did not say, before election, that while he shall endeavor to faithfully discharge his duty as Mayor, he shall take but one-half of the salary. That salary, he thinks, should come down with the general decline in prices and values, and he will see that it does come down.

The salary of the Mayor of Portland is $5,000 a year, and the salary of the Governor of Oregon is $15,000 per year. Pennoyer served the people of Oregon faithfully as Governor for $1,500 a year, and he will doubtless serve the people of Portland as efficiently as Mayor for $2,500 or $3,000 a year. He appreciates the present condition of affairs and thinks that salaries, where they are as high as that of the Mayor of Portland, should be reduced to correspond with the general decline in values.

It is reasonable to assume that the rings which have flourished in Portland at the expense of the taxpayers for many years, will be known only in the history of the city under Mayor Pennoyer's administration.

THE LEAVEN WORKING IN MAINE.

The Populists of Maine, the home of the Czar of the House of Representatives, held a State convention at Lewiston which was attended by 425 delegates. Professor Bateman of Auburn was nominated for Governor, and made a speech in which he advocated monetary reform. A resolution censuring Senator Allen of Nebraska for his speech in Congress advocating paper currency on a silver and gold basis, was tabled.

The platform demands the coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 without asking the consent of any other nation; that no bonds shall be issued; that Congress shall assume its constitutional right to issue a paper currency which shall be full legal tender for all debts public and private until the sum total of money in circulation shall reach $50 per capita.

Some years ago Maine was carried by the greenbackers. It is possible that the free silver element in the State may be as strong this year as the Greenbackers were then. The Maine farmers feel the depression caused by the single gold standard fully as much as the farmers of other States, and the gold men may not have their own way there if they do send Mr. Reed and Mr. Dingley to Congress.

UNFRIENDLY OFFICIALS

The President and Vice President of the United States are not in accord on the money question. The President dislikes the Vice President because the latter exercises the right of an American citizen to do his own thinking and form his own opinions. Since the Democratic party divided on the silver issue, Mr. Cleveland's unfriendliness has been very pronounced. Colonel Stevenson, the Vice President, to avoid giving offense, has conducted himself, with the greatest delicacy. Out of respect for the President he has published no declaration on the silver question although he has not attempted to conceal his views from his friends. He never visits the White House and has no communication with the President, who seems to ignore him because of his financial views. On one occasion he wrote a letter recommending an old friend for appointment. The President sent the Vice President's letter to the Treasury Department with sarcastic comments in his own hand-writing. The Vice President happened to see the comments and he made no more recommendations.

ANNOYING MR. REED

Representative Keen of Nebraska is the cause of much annoyance to Mr. Reed's Congress. He asserted some time since that no business should be transacted if he could prevent it unless there was a quorum present. He has faithfully kept his word and he is the only one of the 356 members of the House who is feared by the would-be President. He is promptly on hand every morning and insists on a quorum before the House proceeds to business. Some times it takes twenty minutes to get a quorum and in that time Mr. Reed's anger rises to the danger point. He admonishes the members to attend promptly, but they are dilatory as ever next morning.

It is well for Keen that his seat is not contested as he would be ousted in twenty-four hours, regardless of majority, if there was another claimant for his seat. The House has unseated several members recently for less cause than compelling the Speaker to procure a quorum before acting on important bills.

The Ogden Standard asks "If Cleveland and Carlisle belong to the Republican party or are they simply renegades from Democracy? Lately they have found their most ardent defenders on the Republican side of Congress, and, but for the name, no one would know that they were not political co-workers with Sherman, Morrill, Chandler and others."

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

A Veto Sustained—Loud's Mail Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A motion to pass the Deficiency bill over the veto was lost in the House, yeas 40, nays 169. The conferees on the Naval Appropriation have agreed upon a final report. The agreement provides for three new battleships and fixes the price of the armor plate at $425 per ton.

Loud, Chairman of the Postoffice Committee, moved to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill to amend the law defining fourth class mail matter. Loud explained that the mails were now gorged with all sorts of Government supplies. Cannon said that he could not see why Government matter should not be handled by the postoffice instead of by express. Loud explained that the matter could be handled by express for one-fourth of what it cost the Government and that it cost the Government twice as much to transfer the mails as it should. The bill was passed by 102 to 35.

Crushed in an Elevator.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—James Monshila, a restaurant dishwasher, was crushed to death and horribly mangled by a side walk elevator at thirteen Stockton street to-day. He entered the elevator at the basement and ascended to the pavement and was crushed against the unopened trap doors.

Jules Simon Ill.

PARIS, June 6.—The condition of Jules Simon, the distinguished French statesman, is considered hopeless.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The House of Representatives had to wait twenty minutes yesterday to get a quorum.

The primary elections in Georgia yesterday indicate a majority for the free silver men.

Dunham still evades his pursuers though the country in which he is supposed to be concealed is full of them.

A cloudburst near Loup city, Nebraska, injured seven members of Joseph McCoy's family and killed one child.

Gypsum City, Kansas, was struck by a cloudburst at midnight. The people fled from their houses and found the water two feet deep in the streets. The farmers left their homes in boats.

The President vetoed the General Deficiency bill. He objects to allowing a million dollars of the French spoliation claims, and also to the payment of the Choteau claim of $174,000.

George Cradens, a farmer living near Ramsey, Indiana, arrived at home at midnight and found his house burned and the bodies of his wife and her 12-year-old son in the ruins. A double murder is suspected.

James Creggan and Charles Becker, charged with complicity in the Woodland, California, bank swindle, by which the Nevada Bank, San Francisco, lost $20,000, pleaded not guilty in the Superior Court and their cases will be set for trial next Friday.

The California Miner's Association and State officers requested Speaker Reed to have the Mineral Land bill taken from the calendar and placed on its passage in the House of Representatives. As the Speaker does not feel kindly toward California, he refused to comply with the request.

Government officials in California have decided that all advertising on slips of paper resembling Confederate notes or greenbacks, will be prosecuted by the Treasury Department, as a violation of the Money law. Ignorant people are deceived by the dodgers, believing them to be legal notes.

Miss F. Bourland shot and fatally wounded Maude Allen and then fired upon her own husband at Fort Smith, Arkansas. The shooting was the outcome of an intrigue between Bourland and the Allen woman. Mrs. Bourland has not been arrested. She is a leader of society and her husband is wealthy.

Lizzie Ellis, a domestic, believes that Joseph Blanthier, the fugitive murderer of Mrs. Langfeldt, is her husband. A year ago he was introduced to her as Robert G. Figg, by a matrimonial agency, and she married him. Two weeks after marriage he disappeared taking his wife's money, $1,800, the savings of years, which he induced her to draw from the bank.

The bodies of Steve Shamarian and of his son and daughter were found five miles from Fresno, Cal., yesterday, all having been shot in the backs of their heads. They lived on a ranch and their bodies were found near an irrigating ditch a mile from their home. A nephew of the murdered man has been arrested on suspicion of being the murderer. The father was the oldest Armenian settler in the county. The nephew had frequent quarrels with his cousins over business matters.

Viavi.

Viavi is more of a food than a medicine. I should be glad to have those who do not understand its use, call and get a Health Book free and read the home testimonials. Viavi sales in 1895 exceeded those in 1894 by half a million dollars. Mrs. B. E. HUNTIN, Fourth Street.

Jobber in cigars and tobacco, also carries a full line of gent's furnishing goods, which he offers for sale at cost price, as he wants to make room for a new stock. Free employment rooms connected with his store.

FRESH WATER UNDER THE SEA.

Obtained by Divers From Springs Overlaid by Salt Water.

The hottest region on the earth's surface is on the southwestern coast of Persia, on the border of the Persian gulf. For 40 consecutive days in the months of July and August the mercury has been known to stand above 100 degrees in the shade, night and day, and to run up as high as 150 degrees in the afternoon. At Bahrain, in the center of the most torrid part of this most torrid belt, as though it were nature's intention to make the place as unbearable as possible, water from wells is something unknown. Great shafts have been sunk to a depth of 100, 200, 300, and even 500 feet, but always with the same result—no water.

This serious drawback notwithstanding, a comparatively numerous population contrives to live there, thanks to certain springs which burst from the bottom of the gulf more than a mile from the shore. The water from these springs is obtained in a most curious and novel manner. Machadores (divers), whose sole occupation is that of furnishing the people of Bahrain with the life giving fluid, repair to that portion of the gulf where the springs are situated and bring away with them hundreds of bags full of the water each day. The water of the gulf where the springs burst forth is nearly 200 feet deep, but these machadores manage to fill their goat-skin sacks by diving to the bottom and holding the mouth of the bags over the fountain jets—this, too, without allowing the salt water of the gulf to mix with it. The source of these subterranean fountains is thought to be in the hills of Omond, 400 or 500 miles away. Being situated at the bottom of the gulf, it is a mystery how they were ever discovered, but the fact remains that they have been known since the dawn of history.—Public Opinion.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to make when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

A GREAT SHOT.

But He Learned That Cold "Pice" Had Beat the Gun.

It was on a California ranch in early springtime. John, the cook, aged about 17 years, had offered to slay several thousands of the myriads of blackbirds which were swarming around the ranch if Brown, the boss, would furnish powder and shot. The birds were so numerous that the wheat had to be covered as soon as possible after sowing. If this was not done, the ground would be choked with the seed in a very short time as if it had never been sown.
Under these conditions Brown was not slow in furnishing the necessary ammunition.

The next morning after the breakfast dishes were cleared up John made his appearance in the field, armed with the old muzzle loading, double barreled shotgun. After stowing away a liberal amount of ammunition in the old gun he took deliberate aim at a place where the blackbirds seemed to be most numerous on the newly seeded ground.
With a tremendous report the old gun belched forth its deadly charge. When John recovered from the recoil and the smoke had cleared up, he was surprised and delighted at the havoc he had caused in the swarm of birds. Perhaps 40 or 50 lay dead on the ground, and others dropped every few yards as the birds flew toward a clump of trees about 150 yards distant.

Loading the barrel which had been discharged, John proceeded toward the trees, intent on securing another shot, but as he drew nearer he was surprised to see the birds still dropping to the ground. When within about 80 yards of the trees, he stopped, undecided as to whether he had better fire again or not, for it seemed as though he must have wounded all of the birds so continuously they were falling. As the birds did not seem to be alarmed by his presence, he concluded to count the dead ones, and find out how many he had killed with one load. Cautiously making his way under the trees, he commenced counting, and the birds kept falling.
After counting about 200 dead birds, and seeing that they were still falling, he commenced to feel a little suspicious, and noticed that the birds were acting in a very unusual manner up in the trees.

"Ha, ha, ha!" yelled Brown, who had been taking it all in at a short distance, unseen by John. Leaping until he could scarcely walk, Brown approached and John, who was sure something was wrong, demanded an explanation.
"Well," said Brown, "I had just sworn about a peck of poisoned wheat when you came out, and the poison commenced taking effect just after you fired."

The boys all call him "Blackbird John."—Forest and Stream.

Glass Coffins.
Local undertakers are interested in the proposition of an Indiana company to manufacture glass coffins on a large scale. George F. Kimball, the plate glass manufacturer, states that the idea is entirely practicable, and that coffins can be made from glass much more cheaply than from wood. Mr. Kimball thinks that such coffins could be constructed in the cheaper grades for not more than 50 cents a running foot. Coffins made from glass would be much more durable than metallic caskets, and their extreme cheapness would cause their adoption extensively in cases where death is due to contagious diseases, in which the law requires a hermetically sealed casket. A new method of manufacturing glass whereby it is made from separable wood will enable the manufacturer to lend infinite variety to his product.—Chicago Chronicle.

His Liberal Reward.

The champion man up town seems to be a young man who recently advertised in the papers offering a "liberal" reward for the return of a pocketbook containing $30 in cash and some valuable papers. Two young men found the pocketbook in Norristown and called at the loser's house to return it. He handed one of them 50 cents. The finders protested, saying that it had cost them 65 cents to come down from Norristown, and that they hadn't enough money to get home again. The fortunate owner of the pocketbook dismissed them with the remark that he couldn't be that.—Philadelphia Record.

THE BLUEFISH BRIGADE.

What Happens When the Blue Make a Charge Upon the Menhaden.

"When menhaden or herring are driven upon the beach by bluefish, as they often are, so that they can be carried off by the cartload," said a fisherman, "there is very seldom found among them one of their pursuers, and if one is found it is likely to be a fish that is diseased or that has been hurt in some way. The bluefish follows to the very verge of the water, but there it stops, and it is so powerful and alert a swimmer that it close as it is, it still easily keeps clear of the land. The menhaden or herring no mean swimmers. They could come as close and keep off the shore as easily as the bluefish do, but not when the bluefish are after them. Then they are like men pursued to the edge of a precipice. It is almost certain death to jump, but they must do that or turn and take the chances of breaking through the pursuing line.

"When the bluefish—there may be 3,000 or 4,000 of them together—sight a school of menhaden, they go for it like a brigade of heavy cavalry, cutting and slashing, snapping and biting, right and left. The menhaden are simply overcome by superior weight, and there is nothing for them to do but flee.
If they are driven toward the shore, the land is to them what the precipice would be to the man. They must take it or they must turn and try to fight their way through. Many do turn and try to swim under or over or around the savage bluefish, and some escape in this way, and some are snapped up, and some are maimed and then cast ashore, and many of them, crowding together, are so closely pressed that they are practically forced ashore.

"Sometimes fish that are not cast up very far flop down into the water again.
A high wave may set some free. A fish thus liberated may find its way so dangerous that it can't swim, and it is cast up again. Weakened by its rough experience, it may fall a prey to some of the bluefish yet lingering off shore. It may escape."—New York Sun.

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cure" or Tonic for Catarrh in Discharge to be taken internally, usually contains either Mercury or Iodide of Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. Thoroughly should be quick to take inflammation and heat the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
